

LATIN, WEEK 11

CIRCUM, CIRC	AROUND, ROUND
circumvent	to get around; to bypass circumference	the distance around a circle circumstantial	suggesting that something is true without proving it circumspect	cautious circumlocution	an indirect way of expressing something circumscribe	to draw a circle around; to restrict circumnavigate	to sail around the world circuit	a path for an electrical current to flow around MIT, MIS	MESSAGE, SEND
emit	to send out; to give forth as in sound or light commitment	A pledge or promise admittance	the right to enter unremitting	not stopping or slowing down; constant intermittent	stopping and beginning again; sporadic omit	to leave out
missive	a written note or letter emmissary	messenger
SPEC	SIGHT, SEEING
spectacles	glasses that help someone see better introspective	inward looking retrospective	looking back at past things aspect	a part that can be considered or viewed inspection	the act of examining or reviewing respectable	worthy of respect estimable	honorable; reputable spectrum	broad range of related values or qualities or ideas or activities speculate	To form opinions without definite knowledge or evidence